► TVq&a

Q: I really like "Three Rivers." Is it just on hiatus, or has it been canceled? -Shirley Rotolo, Leesburg, Fla.

A: "On hiatus" is the phrase CBS has been using for the Alex O'Loughlin-starring medical drama, but since there are no plans for any more episodes beyond the 13 originally ordered, "canceled" can be substituted. At this writing, there was no word on when (or if) the network intended to air the remaining stories.

Q: I'm a big fan of Gordon Ramsay. Will we see more of him? -Carol Jimerson, Gowanda, N.Y.

A: Not only will you see more of him, you'll see more of his "Kitchen Nightmares" as he tries to rescue restaurants destined to close otherwise. The Fox series is scheduled to begin a new season Jan. 29. Ramsay also is developing another show with Fox, "MasterChef," a contest designed to turn one of several casual cooks into - you guessed it - a MasterChef.

Q: About 20 years ago, there was a series starring Kate Jackson and Bruce Boxleitner called "Scarecrow and Mrs. King." I wonder if it is available today in any form. -Margaret Humleker, Fond du Lac, Wis.

A: It'll be available on DVD very soon, since Warner Home Video is slated to release the complete first season of the former CBS comedy-adventure show March 9. In the meantime, you can watch full episodes for free on the Internet at www.fancast.com; "Scarecrow" is part of the site's area labeled "Classic WB TV" (with the "WB" standing for Warner Bros., the studio that made the series).

Q: My husband insists that "Grasshopper" in the "Kung Fu" series many years ago. Can that be true? -Brigitte Pitkin, Seattle

A: No, it can't be. If the reference is to the younger version of central character Caine - who was played as an adult by David Caradine in the 1972-75 ABC show - that role was filled by Radames Pera.

Q: I am an avid fan of the show "Criminal Minds." Often during the program, the FBI agents will refer to the individual on whom they are forming a profile as the "unsub." Is that a term actually used by the FBI, and what does it stand for? -Claudine Holman, Oklahoma City

A: It's an actual term, and it stands for "unidentified subject." In fact, there was a similar series that was titled "Unsub," which NBC aired in 1989; David Soul ("Starky & Hutch") played the sleuths' leader.

Q: We were really getting into "V," and now it has totally disappeared. Why? -John Antonucci, Hobe Sound, Fla.

A: Actually, it hasn't disappeared completely, just for the time being. ABC's strategy was to debut the remake of the 1980s sci-fi franchise in November, run it throughout that month, then give it a rest until the Winter Olympics were over (so as not to risk losing viewers, who might not return to the serialized plot, while NBC airs the sporting event).

ABC is holding to that plan, and "V" is slated to return March 30 ... when the network hopes it will get a boost from being scheduled immediately following the final episodes of "Lost."

Q: How many television series did Robert Conrad star in? -Ken Rozga, Milwaukee

A: We count 10 ... "Hawaiian Eye" (1959-62), "The Wild Wild West" (1965-69), "The D.A." (1971-72), "Assignment Vienna" (1972-73), "Baa Baa Black Sheep"/"Black Sheep Squadron" (1976-78), "The Duke" (1979), "A Man Called Sloane" (1979-80), "High Mountain Rangers" (1988), the preceding show's spinoff "Jesse Hawkes" (1989), and "High Sierra Search and Rescue" (1995). With the latter three series, Conrad also played a major role behind the scenes, with many of his family members involved as well.
